Mr. Foster, who is a recent graduate of the Rabbinical school at Cincinnati, preached an excellent sermon last night taking as his text the following passage from the story of Joseph, in Gene-"The evil they devised against me God has brought about for my good." He compared the life of Joseph to the course through history of the Jewish nation. "Joseph," said he, "is a proto-type of Judaism. Like Joseph, the Jews have had to first pass through a series of troubles, through bondage and tribulation, until finally they have attained their goal. "Like Joseph, the Jew has had to suffer untold trials for his faith. And, like Joseph, he has surmounted all difficulties, and successfully run the gauntlet of a course of torments and tortures which would put the horrors of darkest Africa to shame. Thank God, those days are now over, and the effects of his trials have only made the Jew more patient, more enduring and more true to his faith.'

The employes of the International Correspondence school conducted a minstrel jubilee last night at St. Luke's Parish House, and fully entertained ar audience which thronged the hall. The stage was cleverly decorated and the performers, coolly attired in white shirt waists and duck trousers, looked calm and comfortable.

Joel Foster acted as interlocutor, and Jerry Foster, Charlie Swisher, Hal Bunting and Walt. Davis made four excellent end men. The programme was divided into two parts, the first consisting of an opening chorus, a tenor solo by Gustave Repert, a snare solo by Hal Bunting, a bass solo by D. E. Wenzel, solos by Charlie Swisher and Walt. Davis, and selections by a quintette composed of John Stoeber, Gustave Repert, Fred Heintz, John Kem-pher and Jacob Emick. The second part of the entertainmen was furnished by Hal Bunting, Herry Clark, and Roach and Loftus.

Those in charge of the performance were: Manager, John J. Hurley; musical director, Charles Hanne; accompanist, Harry L. Tyler; property man, Harry Burgess; stage carpenter Harry Jeffrey; electrician, J. D. Smith.

PETER MILLER MADE THREATS

THREATENED TO BLOW UP HOUSE OF JOHN HUTCHKO.

Was Committed to the County Jail Last Night by Alderman Millar in Default of $1,000 Bail-Three Men Arrested at Olyphant for Rioting at That Place and Held in Bail. Warrants Have Been Issued for a Number of Other Men.

Peter Miller, a striker who lives in the rear of 713 Scranton street, was last night committed to the county jall by Alderman Millar in default of $1,000 ball. Miller is charged with threatening to blow up the house of John Hutchko, of 112 North Seventh street, with dynamite. Hutchko is a mine worker, and most of the time since the strike began has been employed at the Diamond washery of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western company. Miller and others have tried to dissuade Hutchko from working, but without success, and finally Miller declared that unless Hutchko joined the strikers he would have his house blown up by dynamite and all of the inmates killed. He also applied some very opproblous names to Hutchko. When arrested yesterday Miller denled the threats, but several witnesses testified to hearing them made, and the alderman held the accused. For calling vile names, he was fined $10 and osts and in default was committed to the county jail for thirty days. ARRESTS AT OLYPHANT.

District Board Member Stephen Reap, of the United Mine Workers of America: Edward Lawler and John Lyons, all of Olyphant, were arraigned before Magistrate W. S. Millar yesterday afternoon, on the charge of being implicated in Thursday's rioting at Olyphant, near the Delaware and Hudson Coal company's collieries. Reap was fined $20 and held in $500 bail, while Lawler and Lyons were fined $10 each and held in $300 bail.

About thirty other warrants are out for the arrest of mine workers, among them Hugh Duggan, Will Morr, Lincoln Pettigrew and Oliver Roe, who are charged with having taken part in the riots. Warrants were also served upon Frank Wheeler and P. J. McCormack yesterday, who, with Reap, Lawler and Lyons, were accused of rioting, May 20, but their case was continued, at the request of their counsel.

At yesterday's hearing, the defendants were represented by Attorney J. J. O'Malley, and Attorney J. H. Torrey and Joseph O'Brien conducted the prosecution. The warrants were issued at the instance of George Meyl, John Pettigrew, George Moran and David E. Lewis. The hearing took place at 3 'clock, the magistrate's office being thronged with spectators. Superintendent E. E. Rose, of the Delaware and Hudson coal department, and other Delaware and Hudson representatives were present.

THE TESTIMONY.

Meyl, Pettigrew and Mason swore that a crowd of about thirty men had interfered with them, when they were going to work, and that on Reap's ounselling them to go home, they had done so, fearing to go to the colliery. Lewis was then put on the stand, and swore to the commotion which occurred May 20. He claimed that between two and three hundred men met him, when he was going to work, early in the morning, closed in on him, and by their shouts and threats deterred him from He declared that Reap going eemed to him to be the ringleader. "Did Reap lay violent hands on you?

queried Mr. O'Mailey. "No, sir," answer the witness. "Did he have any weapon, or any instrument in his hand," was the next "Well, seeing that there were over a couple of hundred men with him, I hardly think he needed anything," the witness responded. Mr. Goodrich, a watchman at the crossing, testified to the fact that an unusual crowd of men had gathered early in the morning near the colliery. His testimony was productive of a rather lively tilt between the opposing

Magistrate Millar granted a continuance in this case, and Mr. O'Malley then asked that the defendants be discharged, as no direct evidence had been brought to show that they used force or violence. The act of assembly of 1901 was read by counsel for the prosecution, however, showing that the rioting done was sufficient cause to hold. Magistrate Millar overruled the motion to dismiss the case, and Stephen Reap was then placed on the stand. His story of the case was to the effect that on different occasions he had met day, between 7 and 9 o'clock in the Meyl, Pettigrew and Mason, near the On his speaking to them Wyoming avenue, packages of fire- amicably, and asking them to join the

ARE AFTER CONTRACTS.

The triennial adoption of text books by the board of control is to take place in the near future, and the first harbingers of the event are found in the persons of a host of agents who are already in the city, representing big metropolitan book publishing concerns.

Several have already dropped into the chat with the board secretary. Three years ago the board re-adopted the text books then in use, and it is very likely that changes will now be made, and large purchases result. The matter will not be discussed at Monday's meeting, but at a later session.

At present the American Book Publishing company and the Butler Sheldon company have the contracts for the greater number of school books in

CONFLICT OF COUNTY CLERKS. PLANS OF NEW

DETAILS ARRANGED BY SUPE INTENDENT BROWN.

Superintendent of Building Inspection F. L. Brown Has Completed the Plans for New Fire House for Phoenix Chemical and Hook and Ladder Companies-Changes Which Will Be Made in Order to Provide Accommodations for Women at Police Station.

Superintendent of the Bureau of Building Inspection F. L. Brown has completed the plans for the new fire house for the Phoenix company, and Hook and Ladder company on Lackawanna avenue and the women's ward in the police station. The fire house will be located opposite the present quarters of the Phoenix Chemical company, on land purchased from the Lackawanna Iron and Steel communicipal building for a quiet little pany. It is to be a two story brick structure, seventy feet in length, with a frontage of forty feet. The first floor will have an asphalt flooring, and its walls will be finished in brick. will have a wooden ceiling, and the front part of the building will contain the hook and ladder truck and 'chemical company's apparatus.

The horses will be placed in a different position from that in which they are stationed in the other engine houses of the city. Their stalls will be built in such a way that the horses will go direct to their place at the apparatus, instead of running the length of the engine. The truck will have a three horse hitch, and the stalls in this case also, will be arranged in such a way as to greatly facilitate dispatch in respond-

On the second story will be a large dormitory for the men of both companies, with a separate room for the captain, and parlor for the men. In the rear will be locker rooms, with a separate locker for each man, bath rooms with ordinary and rain baths. Above them will be bins for grain and a loft for hay. The heating apparatus and fuel bins will be located in the cellar. Superintendent Brown's plans provide for a rearrangement of the police rooms, which will fill all requirements. The large room opening off the basement corridor on the Mulberry street side of the building will be transformed into a place for women prisoners. Five steel cells will be placed in it, and two large cells arranged for women who who ought not be placed in the regular cells with criminals. The small room adjoining this apartment, which is now used as an emergency hospital, will be alloted the police are merely temporarily detained, and

The seats and railings which are now n the police court room will be removed, only the railings in front of the magistrate's deck being allowed to retain their place. The apartment will be used as a lounging room for the patrolmen and officers while off duty, with the exception, of course, of times when a magistrate is holding court.
